- ❖ Why: Voters Tuesday made critical choices affecting higher education funding. The California Community Colleges state budget has already been cut by $809 million, or 12 percent, since 2008-09. With the passage of Prop. 30, colleges will receive $210 million in additional funding and be able to serve 20,000 more students. Hear from leaders about how the new funding will help get California's community colleges back on track.
- ❖ More: Please visit our key facts page to read about the impacts of Prop. 30.

The California Community Colleges is the largest system of higher education in the nation. It is composed of 72 districts and 112 colleges serving 2.4 million students per year. Community colleges supply workforce training, basic skills courses in English and math, and prepare students for transfer to four-year colleges and universities. The Chancellor's Office provides leadership, advocacy and support under the direction of the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges.
