California Community Colleges Acting Chancellor Erik Skinner Praises California State University Board of Trustees Selection of Dr. Timothy P. White as Next CSU Chancellor

SACRAMENTO, Calif. – California Community Colleges Acting Chancellor Erik Skinner today issued a statement about University of California, Riverside Chancellor Dr. Timothy P. White being selected as the successor to California State University Chancellor Charles B. Reed, who is retiring:

“California community colleges are eager to work with Dr. Tim White and continue the partnership with California State University as we advocate for re-investment in public higher education and prepare the workforce needed for California’s changing economy. Our two systems have made great strides in streamlining the transfer process, and we look forward to working with Chancellor White, a community college alumnus, to sustain and build on this important work.”

The California Community Colleges is the largest system of higher education in the nation. It is composed of 72 districts and 112 colleges serving 2.4 million students per year. Community colleges supply workforce training, basic skills courses in English and math, and prepare students for transfer to four-year colleges and universities. The Chancellor’s Office provides leadership, advocacy and support under the direction of the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges.
